

Ida Waaler : Album Press Release

Ida Waaler is a young and passionate songwriter from Fredrikstad, Norway. For her, music has always been a force of nature, a fire that will never go out.

"My message is to awaken feelings and introduce a broader world perspective to the listener... bringing important subjects into the light."

Ida's live performances are as memorable as they are intense and have at times left people in tears. The main objective of the studio recording has been to capture this magic in a raw and unpolished way. It was recorded live at Urban Sound Studios, Oslo, with Jock Loveband as producer and engineer.

The music on Ida's debut album borrows inspiration from alternative rock legends like PJ Harvey, Jeff Buckley, Skunk Anansie, Tori Amos. It features Sindri Mehl (Dog Almighty) on guitars, Roy Nilsen (Lorenzo) on drums, Espen Kregnes (The Switch) on bass and Kenneth Ekornes on percussion. The expression on this album ranges from intimate and vulnerable to strong and fearless, all with full control over the spectrum.

Ida Waaler is an impressive artist with a unique voice that is truly worth noticing in the years to come.
